

SAYS DIAZ HAS AGREED TO RESIGNMadero Through Federal Envoy Asks Him to Make Public This Intention*NAMES DE LA BARRA FOR PRESIDENT*To Serve Until a General Election Can Be Held—Tells Diaz That a Word From Him Will Bring Peace in a Few Days—Offers His Own Resignation as President of Provisional Government.

El Paso, Texas, May 4.—The peace commissioners of the Mexican revolutionists formally presented to the federal envoy, a statement signed by Francisco I. Madero, Jr., appealing to President Diaz to make public the assurance given privately that he intends to resign.

After offering his own resignation as president of the provisional government, the statement said that both President Diaz and Vice President Corral resign, and that the federal government, the minister of foreign relations, become president until a general election could be held.

Word from Diaz Will Bring Peace. The statement, which is in most courteous phrases, informs President Diaz that there is no other way out of the present difficulty, and that a word from him will bring peace in a few days.

Asks Diaz to Make His Decision Public.

In his statement, Senor Madero calls on President Diaz particularly to make known to the people of Mexico his "irrevocable" decision to resign from power as soon as peace is established in the country.

Madero declares this remark was made by Diaz to "go between," interested in restoring peace.

FOR THE MURDER OF HIS THREE CHILDREN

Thomas Haggerty Appears in Court, and Case is Continued.

Boston, May 4.—Standing in the prisoners dock in which appeared to be a man of middle age, Thomas Haggerty, who stood the news around the neighborhood of Parker Hill in Roxbury last evening, that he had killed three little children by gas poisoning, had nothing to say when the clerk of the Roxbury police court told him that a charge of murder in the first degree had been laid against him.

Counsel for the former Back Bay butcher asked that the case be postponed a week, and that Haggerty be committed by the court, and Haggerty was immediately sent to jail.

The medical examiner expressed the opinion today that the children met death peacefully.

The Roxbury police officers stated today that Haggerty again, after the murder, had been in the room Tuesday evening and that he intended to kill himself by the same method the next night.

Haggerty has been much depressed since the death of his wife two years ago.

A BLAZING AWNING CAUSES WILD PANIC

Forteen Employees of Shirtwaist Factories Injured in Crush.

New York, May 4.—Six hundred and fifty girls, employed in two shirtwaist factories at 543 Broadway, in the down town district, rushed screaming for the stairs from the third and fourth floors late today at sight of a trifling awning fire below them. The confectionery store below, however, a hand rail snapped and thirty or more girls fell in a shrieking heap in a hallway below. Fourteen girls were injured, but none fatally, and only three were taken to hospitals.

A great crowd, attracted by reports that the Washington building was being burned, watched police and firemen as they quelled the terror-stricken working women. The blazing awning on the first floor was quickly extinguished. In just one and three-quarter minutes from the time the alarm was given, 1,500 children under the command of their mothers marched today out of public school No. 26 in the Williamsburg section of Brooklyn. Fire had started in the boiler room, but was extinguished by small damage. Not a child was hurt.

NEW HAVEN WOMAN STRANGLED TO DEATH.

Her Bruised Body Found Tied to Bed With Rope.

New Haven, Conn., May 4.—Tied to her bed by a rope which stretched across the room, the body of a woman was found today in a room at the Hotel Hamilton, where she had been staying.

Shortly after 8 o'clock tonight Antonio Monica, a waiter at the Hotel Hamilton, called at the Grand avenue street and told the sergeant in charge that he had found a woman's body in a room at the hotel.

Mrs. Pagino lived and Mrs. Pagino was a woman of about 35 years of age. According to two officers who were sent to the house, and on breaking in the door of the room, the body of the woman was found lying dead on the bed.

The body was tied to the bed so that one of the ropes stretched across the room, and the woman's head was pressed against the wall. Her body was covered with bruises and black and blue spots which indicated that there had been a struggle before the woman had been tied down.

Mrs. Pagino was separated from her husband and had been living for some time with a man whose first name is said to be John but whose last name the police do not know. The man was employed in the local saw company's plant, but his whereabouts the police have not been able to ascertain.

The police located the woman's husband in a room at the hotel, but he was unable to throw any light on the case and did not even know the last name of the man with whom his wife had been living and he was allowed to go.

The police later found out that the husband had been making attempts to have his wife released from the hotel, and that the man who was wanted threatened that if she returned to him he would kill her.

The police also say that the woman is said to have had in her possession a knife, and a search of her clothing and the house having failed to bring it to light.

The rope with which the woman was strangled was tied to one side of the bed and then around her neck and drawn tight and the other end tied to the opposite side of the bed.

RABIES HAVE NOT SPREAD OVER STATE.

Due to Prompt Action of Commissioner on Animals.

Hartford, May 4.—Commissioner on Domestic Animals Herman O. Averill was asked if the danger of the spread of rabies was past, and his reply was that it is too early to say. Secondary cases have developed in Lebanon and one other town. One of the dogs which showed the symptoms was killed and his head sent to Middletown. He had the disease without doubt, but he was not muzzled.

Some of the orders for muzzles in the southern part of the state expired the first of this month. The commissioner is reported to have a case of rabies, is reported free from the disease. There seems to be little danger of a spread, according to reports to the office from about the state. The health officers in the towns also have been awakened to the needs of prompt action, and the work in the state is being done.

Accuse Judge of Unfitness

HARTFORD LABOR LEADERS GIVE A HEARING AT CAPITAL.

OUTCOME OF THE STRIKE

Senator Spillacy Declares Recent Trials of Strikers Were "A Travesty on Justice"—Judge Clarke's Defense.

Hartford, May 4.—On the petition of Sol Northheimer and others for investigation of the conduct of Walter H. Clarke, Judge of the police court, this city, a hearing was held before the judicial committee this afternoon.

Spillacy for Petitioners. Senator Thomas J. Spillacy spoke in behalf of the petitioners and Judge Clarke pleaded his own case. Senator Spillacy said the petitioners alleged that Judge Clarke does not possess the temperament necessary in a police judge, and that it was proved in his disposition of the case of members of the Lady Garment Workers' International union, local No. 74, of this city, who were charged with breaking the peace and inciting to riot.

Time Given Strikers Inadequate. The senator said they were arraigned in the police court at 10 o'clock on the morning of March 31, their arrest having been made between 8 and 10 on the morning of the same day. He said that he was not present until Monday, April 13, and that Judge Clarke replied that he would recess until 11 a. m. He told the judge that the time was inadequate to consult his clients and prepare a defense.

O'Flaherty Called It "Gag Rule." Hugh O'Flaherty, an attorney for forty years, said that the case was another matter, thereupon addressed the court and stated that as a member of the bar and a friend of the judge, he would not consent to a proceeding was unheard of, and as such, he would not consent to it.

Judge Clarke's Warning. Continuing, Senator Spillacy said that Judge Clarke granted an adjournment until the following Monday, saying from the bench, "If there are any more disturbances they will be severely dealt with."

Only Ten Minutes for Argument. On Monday the case came to trial after an all-day session. Judge Clarke said he did not care to hear the prosecuting attorney argue, but would give the defense ten minutes for argument. He said he would not hear the defense until the following Monday.

Assembly Can Revoke Appointment. The fines imposed ranged from $5 to $25, and upon appeal being taken the bond was fixed at $500 in each case. The senator said that the assembly can revoke the appointment of a man if he is not fit to sit on the bench.

"A Travesty on Justice." "Ten minutes is an unreasonable time for argument in a case such as this," said the senator. "The police court is the poor man's final jurisdiction. I am not sure that a man refuses to listen to an argument he is not fit to sit on the bench. A man who is not fit to sit on the bench should not be allowed to sit on the bench."

"Temperamentally Unfit for Office." Judge Clarke is an honest and honorable man, but he is temperamentally unfit for the office.

Petition Tells Only Half Truth. Judge Clarke said that the petition contains only half truth. "Had the petition told the whole truth," he said, "no explanation would be necessary. The real situation I found confronting me on the morning of March 31 was a case of extreme violence and disorder in the streets of Hartford."

Wanted to Stop Rioting. "When adjournment was asked for, I was reluctant to grant it, because I wanted to nip trouble in the bud and show to the strikers that rioting would not be permitted. As I went on the bench that morning I was informed that within an hour another riot had occurred."

"Time Had Arrived for Action." "I felt that the time had arrived for action and I didn't want the strikers to consider leniency on my part. The matter before the court was a question of fact."

"Defense Composed of Untruths." "The cases were on trial all day and my mind was clear as to how I was to dispose of them. The defense was largely composed of untruths. Several penalties might justly have been imposed. Had there been trouble securing bonds I would have required them."

Court Took Serious View of Case. "It was highly essential that the defendants saw that the court took a serious view of the cases notwithstanding that the fines imposed were not excessive. What such disturbances might lead to is hard to tell. I meant for the prisoners to see that law and order must be maintained in Hartford."

Hill Attacks The Free List

CONNECTICUT MEMBER SAYS IT WILL HELP TRUSTS.

REDUCTION OF REVENUES

Congressman Declares It Would Reach $50,000,000—Would Drive Many Flourishing Industries to Europe.

Washington, May 4.—Not since the republican guns were unlimbered against the democratic free list bill by Minority Leader Mann, over a week ago, has the debate in the house developed such an attack on the measure as was made today by Representative Hill of Connecticut, a republican member of the ways and means committee and one of the leading republican advocates of the Canadian reciprocity bill.

Would Reduce Revenues $50,000,000. Mr. Hill said that the bill devised by the democratic leaders, removing the tariff duties from many food products and manufactured articles, was so crudely drawn and so indefinite in its terms that no estimate could be made of the revenues it would cut off or that it would have on business and commerce. He asserted that instead of $10,000,000 reduction in revenue, as the democrats expected it might make a reduction of $50,000,000, and its effect upon business would be to drive many flourishing industries to Europe.

Will Help the Trusts. "You intended to hit the trusts," said Mr. Hill to the democrats. "You will wake up to find the trusts in fact helped the trusts; taken away the revenues of the government, and put the trusts into the pockets of the people who claim to be helping them."

Mechanics and Skilled Labor Will Suffer. Mr. Hill explained that the International Harvester Machine company, the largest sewing machine company and other great manufacturers would be ruined by the democratic bill to manufacture parts of their machines cheaply abroad and bring them into this country to be assembled by cheap labor here. Mechanics and skilled labor would suffer loss of employment, he said.

Bill Too General in Terms. He said that the democratic bill was so general in terms as to admit almost anything free of duty. Woolen goods, all kinds of wire, all sorts of fabrics, zinc, lead, pig iron and a number of other things he specifically mentioned.

Free Admission of Bagging for Trusts. Mr. Hill particularly attacked the bill for making many manufactured products free of duty, like shoes, harness, saddlery and the like, while it left a duty against the raw materials which American manufacturers have to import. He said also that in attempting to make the bill more general, the democrats would let the trusts use the bagging used by the fertilizer trust to avoid paying duty on the fertilizer.

Underwood's Explanation. Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee interjected that Mr. Hill's whole argument was from the standpoint of the American manufacturer, that it was his duty to "reduce prices and cost of living for the American people."

Frequent Interruptions. Mr. Hill said that the reductions would in almost every case be taken up by the big corporations which control the markets. The speech was interrupted by many interruptions and much noisy comment from both sides of the house.

An Amusing Tilt. Mr. Fecht of Pennsylvania, also against the bill, had an amusing tilt with Mr. Fecht of Pennsylvania, who also was against the bill. Mr. Fecht said that the tariff debate in the extra session was costing the country $10,000 a minute. Mr. Fecht said the expense to the country would be the same, whether the house was in session or not.

"Who Owns the White House?" "We did not call the extra session," retorted Mr. Fecht. "You had to make your agreement with the white house, that you would pass the reciprocity bill."

Whose White House Is It? asked Mr. Sims. "You claim that and everything else in sight," said Mr. Fecht. "The white house is the white house," persisted Mr. Sims.

Nothing Left of Democratic Party in 1912. "You act as if you did," returned Mr. Fecht, "and you act as though you were the president. I believe you have discounted democratic success for sixteen years ahead, but you are entirely mistaken. The opinion of the democratic party is that the man who jumped off the 32d story of the Singer building in New York. When he got down to about the 10th story he halted. 'I'm all right,' he said, 'but when he landed on the sidewalk there was not enough left of him to hold a most mortem upon, and so he jumped with him when he hit the sidewalk in 1912.'"

POISONED BITS OF BREAD SCATTERED IN A YARD.

Chemical Analysis Shows It to Have Been Dosed With Paris Green.

Westfield, Mass., May 4.—The police are investigating the scattering of pieces of bread containing poison in a yard on Meadow street occupied by a man named Bodendorf. The latter recited Tuesday that a large number of small pieces of bread had been found in his yard, covered with what appeared to be Paris green. A sample was analyzed by H. E. Allen of the Westfield Normal school Tuesday night and it was found that Paris green had been used on the bread in such a quantity to poison any person or animal who might happen to eat it. There are a number of children who usually play in the yard and it is considered fortunate the poisoned bread was found before any of it was eaten. There is no clue at present as to who put the bread in the yard.

SCHOOL PRINCIPAL SUE

BY FATHER OF PUPIL.

Alleged That Boy Was Beaten in School With Piece of Hose.

Hartford, May 4.—East Hartford divided itself into two parts and sent delegations to the court of common pleas this morning. A lot of folks took sides with Principal A. W. Holman of the East Hartford meadow school for having "flogged" a small boy, whose name is Raymond, and then a number of other boys, who were quite with the small boy himself, who, through his father, Nicholas Prumium, is petitioning the court to award him $1,000 of Principal Holman's money.

All East Hartford knows about the case. It grew out of a chastisement administered to two boys and sent to the school last September, and the affairs of teacher and small boy got into the East Hartford police court or, in fact, down to now, Nicholas Prumium says that his son was so severely flogged and beaten with a piece of hose that his back and legs were badly bruised and that he hasn't been able to go to school since. Mr. Holman denies that the punishment inflicted was other than usual and says that he was obliged to chastise the lad.

Women Killed In Collision

Trolley Crashes Into Carriage at South Norwalk, Conn.

THE TWO OCCUPANTS DEAD

Wife of Gen. Russell Frost Instantly Killed, Her Sister Dying Few Hours Later—Car Crew Under Arrest.

South Norwalk, Conn., May 4.—Mrs. Russell Frost, wife of General Frost, was almost instantly killed, and her sister, Mrs. Dudley Raymond, injured so badly that she died soon afterwards as the result of a collision late today between the carriage in which they were riding and a trolley car.

Started to Cross Trolley Tracks. Mrs. Frost and her sister were returning to the former's home on West avenue and the carriage had reached a point opposite the Frost residence when the coachman, John Pooley, attempted to drive across the trolley car tracks.

Horses Fell Down. About half way across one of the horse stands, a trolley car approached, falling to the street, dragging the second horse down with him. Pooley jumped out to bring the horses to their feet, and while he was at their heads a trolley car which, it is said, was running at a fairly high speed, crashed into the carriage.

Thrown Through Window. The force of the collision threw Mrs. Frost out through one of the glass windows in one of the side doors to the street, where she struck on her head, fracturing her skull. She was picked up unconscious and taken into her home, where she died in a few minutes.

Mrs. Raymond Unconscious. Mrs. Raymond, who was not thrown from the carriage, was taken unconscious into her sister's home and physicians summoned. She remained unconscious after the accident, and a short time later, when she partly roused and complained of severe pains in her back and hips.

Had Fracture of Spine. The attending physicians made a hasty examination which disclosed that her spine was fractured, and although they did all that they could, she died in the city. Mrs. Frost, after a short illness, died in a few minutes.

Motorman and Conductor Arrested. The motorman, Matthew Ryan, and the conductor, William H. Ryan, after the accident made their regular rounds, where they were placed under arrest by the police of the South Norwalk police, who went after them in an automobile. They are being held until the verdict of the coroner, who will immediately make an investigation of the accident.

Frosts a Well Known Family. Mrs. Frost was the wife of Gen. Russell Frost, for several years brigadier general in the army. Mrs. Frost was 75 years old and had been married 50 years. She was the daughter of the late Dudley P. Ely, a former mayor of South Norwalk. Mrs. Frost was the mother of two sons, Russell Frost, Jr., who is a student at the Yale university law school.
